-Spectator Notes-

Carmel has withstood the onslaught of vacationing school children very well this year. Things seem to be orderly and the young visitors well behaved. Police Chief Clyde Klaumann has played an important part in this situation.

When the first groups started to arrive, he and his officers kept a wary eye open. They brought traffic offenders into the station immediately and gave them a dressing-down. Juveniles who acted up were brought in, their addresses noted, and their parents notified by letter. Several parents came down from the San Francisco area to bring their children back. Some were told to leave town, and they did.

Word got around--fast. The kids found out they were welcome as long as they behaved themselves, otherwise things would be tough. The fear of having their parents notified evidently did the trick, Chief Klaumann believes.

A release came our way this week mentioning among other things "Robison Jeffers" and his great play "Media." That's the one about the ad-man, isn't it?

Interested to note at play on Saturday night up the Valley Al Fry and his pretty wife, Marie. Al said La Playa was full of young things from the Bay area, and he thought he'd better get home in time to help the girls bid the boys good-night... he thought they might just pass.

In the jittery closing moments before election this week, someone carolled out to Peter Mawdsley (the unopposed candidate for City Clerk) how does it feel to be Unopposed. Peter, who is usually a very dignified fellow, indeed, lighted up a big smile... "wonderful!"

Mrs. F. E. Naftzger has had word that her son Jim is now on Okinawa, helping to build air bases. It was a transfer for the young civilian engineer from Japan.

Pete Gilman, young Herald man about town, will give a housewarming for his new studio apartment tomorrow. Some weeks back he was pondering the social hazard of a lack of bathroom doors in his abode. We'll be interested to hear how he and/or his guests resolve the knotty problem.

A mournful Irish setter, of uncommon disposition, appeared outside The Spectator office this week. He is a sad fellow, with a chalk eye, and a fondness for lying down in the middle of 7th street. We are happy, and relieved to report, that motorists respect his idiosyncrasy.

Gladys Johnston was one of 13 real estate agents in the U.S. to be honored with a medal from the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The medal is given to realtors with long years of service to real estate organizations. "It's for old timers," says Gladys.

Add to the list of travelers. The George Vyes are planning a trip to Europe as are the Wesley Kergans. And the Charlie Scovilles are now enjoying Honolulu.

When Jack and Bonnie Giles of the Youth Center went to Hollywood at Bing Crosby's invitation to pick out costumes for the forthcoming Youth Follies, it was a rude shock to find the sizes... all very small. Seems Hollywood people are considerably littler than our high-schoolers... mostly 21 inch waists. As for the chorus boys' costumes, Jack said it was hopeless, would take two costumes for each of the strapping 6-footers in the Carmel boys' chorus line.

Gerry (Mrs. William Arley Smith) celebrated her council triumph this week by going out to look for a new hat... She shouldn't have to put this one in the ring for four years.

On Wednesday the Lions' Club settled on a winner in the Zone contest for its Student Speaker's Contest. Carmel's Susan Hirst lost to Ezline Williams of Hollister. Ezline will have a chance to progress up to the state level contest... and Susan already has the laurel, having been best in Carmel. Incidentally, that meeting drew a record attendance of 73. --the spectator

Village Week

Cutting through issues to the candidates of their choice, Carmel voters this week named Horace Lyon, Francis Whitaker and Mrs. Geraldine Smith to the city council for the next four years. However, 69 absentee ballots must be counted next Tuesday night before the final results are known.

But at the same time the voters were naming the three new members, they approved the most important single action taken by the outgoing council by voting to retain the city sales tax.

The voters also rejected a pension plan for city employees. Although it was not so worded on the ballot, the voters were denying the State Retirement Plan, the most expensive program under consideration.

A little more than 58 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots, including those who voted absentee. A total of 1480 votes were recorded.

Of the 1411 votes cast Tuesday, Lyon was far in the lead with 870. Next came Whitaker with 728. Mrs. Smith polled 664, with Gene Ricketts, incumbent, following 38 votes behind with 626. Allen Knight, incumbent mayor, received 616, making it still possible that he will be elected by absentee vote. Reed Pollock polled 432.

The vote against the repeal of the sales tax was 746 to 620. The vote against pensions was 774 to 516.

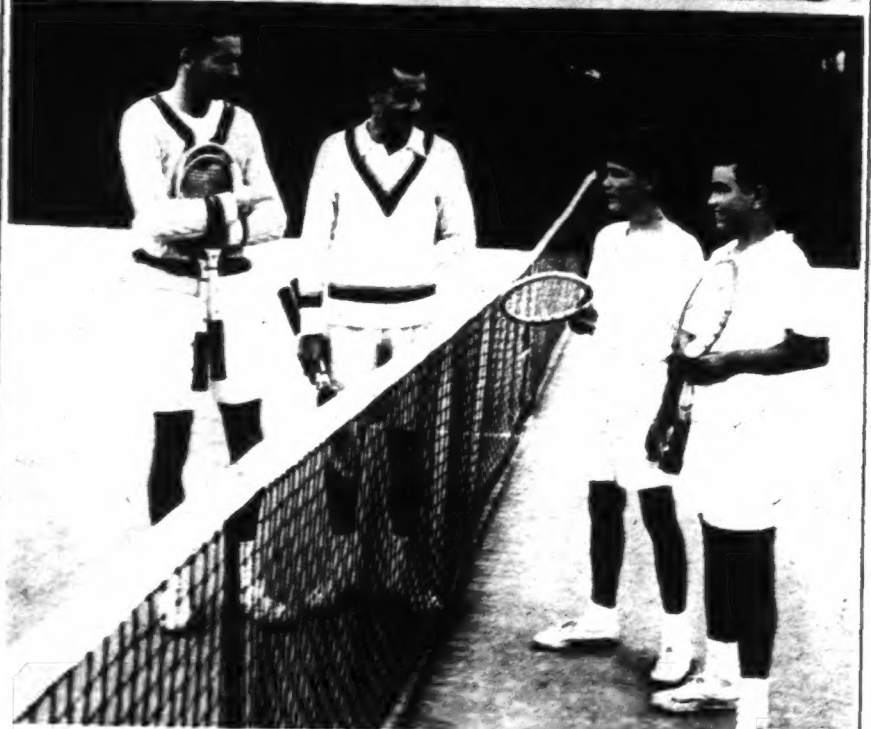

Final election results will be determined at Tuesday's council meeting. The vote will be canvassed at that time, and the new council will take office. At that meeting also the new council will name the mayor for the next two years and appoint commissioners for two-year terms.

COUNCIL "DISAPPOINTED" ABOUT LIQUOR STORE

Another liquor store is going in on Ocean avenue, the Carmel city council was notified at its meeting Wednesday night. Reginald E. Foster, Pacific Grove city attorney, and Peter G. Peleuses have applied to the State Board of Equalization for a transfer of a license from Salinas to Carmel. The new shop will be where the Der Ling shop now is located.

The council noted that it has virtually no control over any sort of liquor licenses in the city. It can protest to the state board only on certain definite legal grounds.

TWO KINDS OF PLAYING

Making an impromptu name band out of themselves are the self-styled "Bahama Beach Boys," a quartet of Piedmont High School youngsters who perform every afternoon on "Piedmont Hill," annual sand dune rendezvous of East Bay 'teen-agers during every Easter Week at Carmel beach. Surrounded by singing classmates, the lads are Louis Gearhardy, strumming his improvised bull fiddle; Ken Rousch, blasting a clarinet; John Russell and John Hardy, filling in chords with ukuleles. Gearhardy fashioned his bass viola from an old washtub, a fence picket and a length of twine--and it can be heard all the way across the dunes to Ocean and San Antonio! -- Arthur McEwen photo.

Timmy Gallwey and George Stoesser, the two young men on the right of the court, compare tennis notes with Tom Brown, U.S. Davis Cup Player, and Harry Likas, San Francisco, who are at Pebble Beach practicing for the 3rd Annual Pebble Beach Invitational Tennis Championships to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 11, 12, and 13. -- Julian P. Graham photo.

Reilly, head of the board, came here to discuss liquor licenses in Carmel. At that time the council made it clear to him that it wanted no more such stores. Reilly told the members he would do all he could to keep the number of licenses in Carmel limited.

The council decided to write Reilly a letter expressing "disappointment" in the board's policy.

Most of the agenda before the council was put over for action by the new council coming in next week.

CARMEL DEATHS

Carmel lost three citizens last week. They were Percival

Edward True, of Hatton Fields, Charles W. Hippard, and Mrs. Ethel White Rhodes.

CONGRESSMAN BRAMBLETT IN AREA OVER WEEKEND

Yesterday, Congressman Ernest K. Bramblett was planning to spend the day in Carmel. But his plane was forced down twice in Kansas on the flight from Washington, so he arrived here late in the day.

He will be in the area until Sunday night when he leaves for the south. Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 he will be at the Forest Hill Hotel, and everyone is invited to attend the open house.

RESERVE OFFICERS COMING

GENERAL MARK CLARK'S talk Saturday morning, April 26, at the Navy School, will be the highlight of the convention of the convention of the California Department of the Reserve Officers Association. Some 600 to 800 members of the organization are expected to attend the meeting from all over the state. Cecil Murphree of Carmel is general chairman of the convention. -- Arthur McEwen photo.

MAKING PLANS for the Reserve Officers' Association Ladies' convention, due at Del Monte, April 25-27 are local official, left to right, Mrs. John Robinson, resolutions chairman; Mrs. George Bestor, convention treasurer; Mrs. Morton P. Balch, general chairman; Mrs. Stephen Magyar, convention vice-chairman, and Mrs. Julian Walker, publicity chairman. The women's convention will be concurrent with the state convention of the men's R.O.A. -- Arthur McEwen photo.

KIDS TIP CAR OVER

The most serious "prank" played by the visiting juveniles so far was the turning over of Walter Kreisler's Renault Wednesday night. The car was parked in front of his house at Junipero and 8th. It was turned over on its side, but as it came to rest in soft dirt, it was not damaged except for a dented rear fender.

FOREST THEATER READY FOR SUMMER SEASON

Most of the damage at the Forest Theater, caused by the winter storms, has been repaired by city crews. The theater is now about ready for the usual summer productions. Some dates are already booked. The Forest Theater Guild has been granted the last two weekends in July and the first two in August. The "This Is It" group is planning a sequel over the Labor Day holiday.

STORE CHANGES HANDS

Felix Dowgaillo has taken over the vegetable store in the Drive Inn Market from Pete Peleuses. Dowgaillo said he intends to keep operating the Wine Shop on Ocean avenue.

SOME UNUSUAL CARS TO RACE AT PEBBLE BEACH

Several interesting cars have been entered in the Pebble Beach sports car races to be run Sunday, April 20. Some of these are new makes to the local circuit.

These include two German Porsches, one to be driven by John von Neumann, whose skill has been demonstrated here for the past two years. The Porsche is a 1,500 cubic centimeter car and will race against the MGs and Simcas.

A British Aston Martin DB-2 will also run. This amazing closed car won the team prize at last year's Le Mans 24-hour race, considered to be the toughest of all production car tests.

A Morgan Plus-4, also British, will be running against the Aston Martin in Class 4. This class promises real competition, for included in it will be the Ferrari, owned by James Kimberly, which raced here last year, and a Healey Silverstone.

Several interesting specials will also be on hand. Sterling Edwards has completed one of his three new cars, this one a Chrysler-powered lightweight on a Henry J. chassis. A Muntz Jet, designed originally by race-car builder Frank Curtis, will be running with a Cadillac motor. A Mercury-powered Alfa Romeo has been entered by Hollywood's Keenan Wynn.

Also on hand will be the wonderful "500s," the smallest of the Grand Prix racing cars. These little cars will run with the big sports cars for the first 50 miles.

A Review

THE WHARF DOUBLE BILL

A two part program is currently on view at the Wharf Theatre. The first comedy, "A Cold Day in June," is by Paul Clark, a Pebble Beach resident, and is a domestic comedy centering about a somewhat wretchedly married couple who reach self-revelation through overhearing themselves bluntly discussed by acquaintances. The eavesdropping scene is heightened dramatically, though irrelevantly, by the fact that the dissection occurs during a radio quiz program. The victims lose both their illusions and the booty offered on the program at the same time, helpless to make their presence or the correct answer known.

There are amusing lines in the play, and well, though over-drawn characters, and the piece is audience worthy, though light. There is a strong quibble with the direction of the second act

BARN THEATRE PLAY

The final week of rehearsals is under way for the Barn Theatre's production of "Oh, Promise Me!" which opens next Friday, April 18, for which drags badly, and needs a much faster pace. There could also be a little effort expended on the final scene in an attempt to make the chastened couple somewhat attractive. The entire point of the play depends upon the audience feeling that their reconciliation and reform is worthwhile. As it is, they promise to be as dreary a pair reformed as they were reprobate.

"Amphitryon 38" is the 38th translation of the Greek play, by Giraudoux, translated in turn from his French by S. N. Behrman. The thesis is roughly that Jupiter, the lustful god, descends to earth to claim the bed of Alkmene, the insistently faithful wife of Amphitryon. Assuming the guise of Amphitryon, he enjoys this diversion, but upon returning to claim the privilege again in his own name, is rebuffed by Alkmene. He takes it very well, since Alkmene is already with his child, the Hercules-to-be, and Alkmene is left quite befuddled, and perhaps a bit discomfited at her success in putting the god off.

Martin Beck as Jupiter is excellent, experienced, and entirely professional, and Dorothy Osborne as a somewhat vapid matron is equally good. In fact the entire cast, with the glaring and important exception of Peggy Cease, as Alkmene, is excellent. Mrs. Cease, unfortunately, plays the central role with such a heavy dose of ersatz sex that one can't for the life of him imagine what all the fuss is about.

The meaning of the entire play lies in the fact that Alkmene is impregnable... a virtuous wife. Jupiter, a very weary type, is admittedly attracted to her because of her unspoiled ways and feminine charm, all, of course, gently dusted over with the idea of spoofing sex and anyone who insists too shrilly on virtue. Mrs. Cease with humorless determination plays an Alkmene who is drawn rather more along the lines of someone determined to be the fastest girl on the block. Giraudoux and Behrman deserve better. It's a serious flaw in the play, but

During the ANTA-Monterey Drama Festival, April 20 to 27, one of the celebrated actors of our time will emerge from retirement to read the spectacular narrative poem, "Roan Stallion" by Robinson Jeffers. He is Rollo Peters who retired from the stage in 1936 at the height of his career, a portrayal of Romeo, opposite Jane Cowl's Juliet. The production was played over one thousand times in New York, and all over America. Besides being an actor of renown, Peters is also scenic and costume designer, and was one of the founders of the New York Theatre Guild, and its first director. He played leads, during his career, opposite such luminaries as Elsie Ferguson, Ann Harding, Jane Cowl, Peggy Wood, and Katharine Cornell. He has lived quietly in Monterey for the last ten years, but when the ANTA-Monterey Festival was formed, he consented to become its president.

Due to the long-standing friendship between Rollo Peters and Robinson Jeffers, the idea emerged for Mr. Peters to narrate Mr. Jeffers' poem in the drama festival and act all the male roles, while Ruth Wershawsky will read the feminine role. "Roan Stallion" is considered one of the most important narrative poems of modern times, and Jeffers is renowned as one of America's foremost living poets and dramatists.

LAMOUR AND HUTTON COSTUMES IN CYC SHOW

Costumes from Paramount Studios in Hollywood were brought back to Carmel by Jack and Bonnie Giles for the April 25th and 26th Carmel Youth Center Follies this week. CRAFTS GUILD TONIGHT

There will be a general meeting of the Carmel Crafts Guild tonight at 8 p.m. at the Carmel Art Galleries.

Guest speaker for the program will be George T. Wise, manager of the Monterey County Fair. There is to be a business meeting, and refreshments will be served.

AWVS MEETING

The regular meeting of the M.P.A. W.V.S. was held last Friday at the USO. Mrs. Leonard Carey and Mrs. John J. Walsh, delegates to the AWVS annual meeting, gave their reports. Eight new units were activated in California in 1951, making a total of 37 units in the state. The report of the local unit which was represented at the meeting showed the Monterey Peninsula to be one of the most active in the state. Other representatives of A.W.V.S. units were particularly impressed with the work done here through the Thrift Shop and the Seaside-Del Monte Youth Center, and in the financial report of the V.N.A.

Mrs. Helen Clark Park, Mrs. James Tyson, and Mrs. Stuart Wilson also attended the conference.

The recommendation of the budget committee was accepted. $1,800 will be given to the V.N.A. for the services of a part time nurse for the balance of the year, and it was also voted to defray part of the expense of sending a cerebral palsied pupil from the Ashkon School to a specialized summer camp for two weeks.

Mrs. James Tyson reported the Arts and Crafts room at the Seaside - Del Monte Youth Center was very popular and also that the orchestra under the direction of Miss Charlotte Collins is making excellent progress.

Mrs. Rodney Mason has been appointed over-all chairman of the Shop. The Shop needs clothing of any description, especially large sizes for men and women. Mrs. Brayton Witherell at 2-2449, pick-up chairman, will have donations called for.

MAY GARDEN TOUR

May 14 is the date chosen by the AWVS for its "Garden-Patio Tour." Mrs. Ray Page is chairman of the popular event; Mrs. Richard L. Bower and Mrs. Wesley Heard are in charge of the garden selection committee; Mrs. J. J. Walsh will handle tickets, and Mrs. A. D. Studybaker will arrange for posters.

Fourteen beautiful gardens and patios will be shown on the tour which will be from 10 to 5.

T. Monesmith, world traveler and explorer, entertained members and guests with two colored films showing a fascinating pictorial record of his two safaris through many parts of Africa. He was introduced by Dr. Zoe A. Johnston, program chairman.

Monesmith first described the many necessary requirements for big game hunting and showed by colored slides how big game was captured for zoos and for use in motion pictures. The trials of such an explorer were revealed on the screen and the hardships and life attendant on big game hunting were photographed even to the building of bridges so the equipment could proceed. Among the animals used in the movie "King Solomon's Mines" were those captured by the speaker. "Rogues of the Veldt" was the all color film of his first safari into the Belgian Congo and the newest film, "Action in Africa," is the record of his second expedition.

Tea was served by Mrs. G. Gilbert Campbell and her committee, Mrs. Malcolm Woods, Mrs. Arthur Clay, Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Emeline Parker, and Mrs. Ian L. Bolangee. Mrs. Ann Knox and Mrs. Gladys Hawkins poured, after the talk.

On Monday, April 14, the bridge section of the club will meet. Cake and a beverage will be served to those bringing luncheon and also at tea time for those who prefer tea.

PENINSULA STAMP CLUB ENTERTAINS BOY SCOUTS

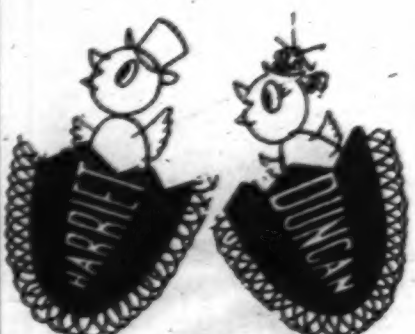

Meeting in the lounge of the Carmel High School Monday evening, April 7, the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club entertained members of Boy Scout troops from Pacific Grove.

Col. John R. Wright, president, introduced these guests as: Boy Scout Troop 46 of the Congregational Church, Pacific Grove, Phillip Pedro, Scout Master, Phillip Pedro, Jr., Howard James, David DeWay, and Michael DeWay, Cub Pack 49, Boyd Hoy, Cub Master, Clifford Johanson, Johnnie Dorman, and Chuck Wallace. The scouts and their leaders came in uniform and made a picture as they bent eagerly over a special table covered with packages of stamps presented by members of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club.

E. R. Blankenship conducted a spirited stamp auction. More material can be used at these auctions. Collectors may bring their duplicates, blocks, or covers. Items offered for auction are to be marked with the catalogue number, price, description, and the minimum price accepted by the seller.

The next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will be a program and refreshment meeting to be held on Monday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in the lounge of the Carmel High School.

CARS RACE APRIL 20

Sports car racing has grown up in the United States just since 1946. In a few short years these thrilling events have become tremendous attractions, the biggest being Watkins Glen, N.Y., which drew over 100,000 last fall.

The start of the sports car interest in America is somewhat shadowy. Probably the best explanation is that many young men who served abroad during the war got their first glimpse of this sort of automobile and were immediately sold.

After the war they joined the few who owned these cars in America before the war and the nucleus for sports car clubs was formed. On both coasts, but especially in the East, the intra-club events grew until the general public interest was aroused. Americans have always been greatly interested in automobile racing, so the attraction of road races cannot be considered unique. Before the depression killed it off, Long Island's Vanderbilt Cup race was one of the world's most important, despite the fact that it was dominated by European cars and drivers.

Because no U.S. automobile manufacturers built sports cars, with the exception of Crosley, the road races have been dominated by foreign cars. Lately however, some of the more enterprising enthusiasts have been building their own. Outstanding among these is Briggs Cunningham, whose cars won both the Watkins Glen and Elkhart Lake, Wis., events last year. Sterling Edwards of San Francisco built a highly successful car which was seen at Pebble Beach both last year and in 1950. This year Edwards is scheduled to enter three new cars he is building in the April 20 race here. A Cunningham is also due to race on the Pebble Beach circuit.

Two separate 100-mile events will be run at Pebble Beach, one for small cars and one for the larger ones. A five-lap, 10.5 mile race for novices will be the first race of the afternoon.

The Concours d'Elegance, where cars are judged for beauty and driving comfort, will be held Saturday, April 19, which is also practice day for the racing cars and drivers.

carmel library notes

New books at the library this week include the first non-fiction work by A. J. Cronin, Adventures in Two Worlds. This is Dr. Cronin's autobiography and his title refers to his two careers, in both of which he was highly successful. He spent the earlier part of his life as a physician in England, Scotland, and Wales, before he wrote his first novel, "Hatter's Castle." The critical acclaim which greeted this and his subsequent books led him eventually to give up his medical practice and devote his full time to writing.

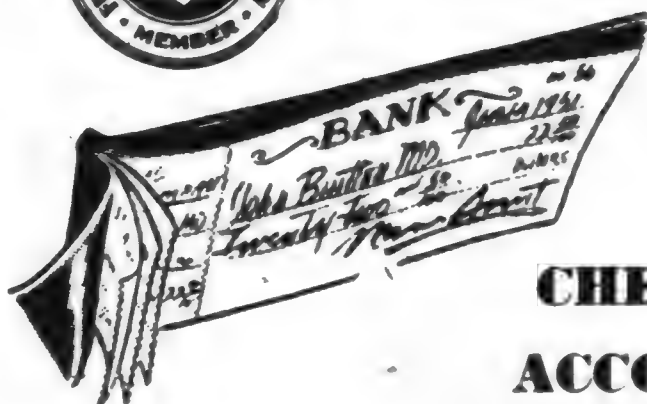

Jesse H. Jones' new book appears as a timely antidote to today's scandalous headlines regarding the R.F.C. In Fifty Billion Dollars Jones tells of his thirteen years with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Jones joined R.F.C. in 1932 and, from 1933 until 1945, STERLING EDWARDS' own Special was one of the most successful American-built sports cars. Although it appeared bulky, the car was largely made of aluminum and was lightened in every way. Powered by a Ford motor with overhead valve gear, the Edwards Special ran in Class '4 (1,950-3,000 cubic centimeters displacement) and competed successfully for two years. Edwards is now finishing three new cars he hopes to race here April 20. -- Julian P. Graham photo.

A slender, pretty woman with modest mannerisms that belie her competence, Dorothy Wright is vice-principal in charge of girls at Carmel High. Her job is one that brings her in close contact with students ... helping them to choose their programs, counselling, disciplining, and as well, handling a multitude of the administrative details involved in the running of the school.

Born and raised one of seven children, in Selma, California, Miss Wright attended schools there until college time when she took her AB at Fresno State and her MA at Cal. Her first job was apparently a compatible one since she stayed ten years in it. She was during that time director of physical education for Fresno High School.

In 1943, with America calling for enlistments, she joined the Marine Corps, and went immediately to Camp Le Jeune, North Carolina, where she took officers' training. The next year and a half she spent there as War Bond Officer, a somewhat nebulous position, but one that led to increased war bond sales among the personnel of the camp.

Transferred to Camp Pendleton she there became the commanding officer of the Officers' Training School, and then executive officer of a battalion, some 5,000 women. She received her discharge with the rank of major in 1946, and is still a reserve officer.

It was right after leaving the Marines that she came to Carmel. Well settled into her congenial job, she was the first woman veteran in California to apply for a veteran's building loan...the product of which is her own home at Vista and San Carlos.

In line with the Carmel's schools' policy she is deliberately and enjoyably active in community, non-educational activities. She is a member of Soroptimists and firmly believes in such liaison school activities for broader understanding.

Asked about her students, Miss Wright replied that the girls were an exceptional group, responsible, co-operative, outstanding in every respect. It's a safe bet to assume that such wouldn't be the case unless Miss Wright herself provided an example of much the same attributes.

NOTE: This is the third of a series of four articles dealing with key figures in Carmel schools. These pieces hope to acquaint Carmelites with some of the people whom they will hear more of during California Public Schools Week from April 28 thru May 2.

WORLD'S FIRST HOME TELEVISION DEVELOPED BY GENERAL ELECTRIC 25 YEARS AGO -

In 1927, Dr. Ernst Alexanderson, General Electric's famous scientist, built the world's first home television set. A lot has happened in the last 25 years, not the least of which is the development of television to its present-day perfection.

Alexanderson's original set is shown on the cabinet of the new 25th Anniversary model of the G-E television set with a 20 inch screen, which can be bought at our shop for $279.95. (The young lady is Miss Marjorie Adams of Chicago.)

Now for the first time, excellent television reception is assured on the Monterey Peninsula through the cable system being laid by the Monterey Peninsula Television Company. By using a scientifically located central receiver and amplifier, clear signals are received by individual sets through an underground transmission cable. For an initial installation cost, and small monthly payments, people in Pebble Beach and Carmel are now or soon will be able to receive excellent television programs.

Come in and see the new G-E television set and ask about the cable system in your area.

headed the organization. Loans as small as $20 and as large as $200,000,000 were made and Jones earned a reputation for scrupulous honesty and integrity. His book tells of the great and small business and of political figures with whom he dealt.

In After the Lost Generation, John W. Aldridge appraises the writers who rose to fame in the 40's. His critical estimates of the group he calls the "illusionless lads" includes Norman Mailer, Irwin Shaw, Truman Capote, Frederick Buechner, Paul Bowles, and many others.

A book which has received high praise is C. W. Ceram's Gods, Graves and Scholars. This book, liberally illustrated with line drawings and photographs, deals with the fascinating history of archaeology and is written in non-technical language.

A collection of baseball stories has been made by Ralph S. Graber in The Baseball Read- er. These include short stories and excerpts from novels by such writers as Mark Twain, Ring Lardner, Robert Benchley, Paul Gallico, James T. Farrell, and Sinclair Lewis.

Clark Lee and Richard Henschel have combined their talents in a new book on Douglas MacArthur. Lee has written a full-length biography of MacArthur with much first-hand information which he gathered as a foreign correspondent covering MacArthur's headquarters. Henschel, who served as photo officer under MacArthur in World War II, has contributed 375 photographs covering the general's entire life. Many of these pictures have never been published before.

Alexis Lichine, who has been a wine merchant for many years, has written a book on Wines of France, which should be of great value to connoisseurs as well as of general interest. He describes the history of the great French wines and provides detailed maps of the various wine-growing regions. C.W.

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

Many gardeners have become greatly interested in growing potted plants in the garden. The advantages are that the plants can be shifted about, making new settings in the patio, terrace and other places. If a plant becomes unsightly or otherwise afflicted, it can be moved and replaced with another, or the color scheme can be varied according to the whims of the gardener.

A MOVABLE GARDEN

If your garden lends itself to pot culture, now is the time to do the planting. It requires weeks for a plant to grow to the blooming stage and it is important to plan what to use. If the area is sunny you may use any of your favorite annuals, such as pansies, argeratum, petunias, carnations, nasturtiums, phlox drummondii, geraniums and pelargoniums. The large double ruffled petunias are very effective and you can use many combinations, such as trailing lobelia, which will drape over the edge of the pots.

In shady spots, use fuschias, tuberous and fibrous begonias, ferns, aspidistra, and aralias. There are many others that may be utilized.

CARE OF POTTED PLANTS

A watering schedule is easily established. Feel the soil; if it is dry give it some water. If the soil is very light and porous, it will dry out faster. Keep the soil damp and watch for wilting of the leaves. When they are droopy water at once.

Pests and most insects are controlled by a weekly spray of Isotox or an all purpose insecticide.

Feed the plants with fish emulsion, a tablespoonful to a gallon of water once each month. There are many good commercial fertilizers and each must be used according to the prescribed directions on the package. If this is not done, you may kill your plants.

Young plants must be kept healthy by proper watering and feeding. If they become stunted they remain so and seldom give satisfactory results. One plant is different; if you have a flat of stocks, be sure to plant the smaller seedlings, since they are usually the double flowered kind. The larger plants are mostly the single flowered variety.

SOOTY FUNGUS CONTROL

Now is the time to look for "sooty fungus." It is a black soot-like deposit on leaves and branches of shrubs such as the Pyracantha, Australian horebell, and broom; also found on any dense foliaged shrubs.

This is controlled by using 6 teaspoonfuls of Orthorix to one gallon of water. Spray thoroughly the trunk and under side of the leaves and spray the ground and neighboring shrubs. Four days later wash down the shrub with the garden hose and then the next day give another spray with Orthorix. In two or three treatments the leaves will be clean and free from the fungus.

SPRING BULBS

These will soon be through blooming but the foliage should not be cut off. The foliage develops the new bulb for next year's blooms. If removed, there will be no flowers. If you wish to move them, dig down with a spade without disturbing the roots, and heel them in, in a shaded place. After the foliage becomes brown and brittle, the bulbs should be stored in dry sand in a cool place until September when they can be replanted.

CUTTING FLOWERS

Roses should always be cut with a long stem, leaving two or three eyes on the mother stem. New shoots come from these eyes and more flowers. Any flowers that have gone to seed should be taken off because as soon as seed forms, the plant ceases to form more flowers. This is especially true of pansies, sweet peas, stocks, snapdragons, and others. Seed pods should always be picked off, especially on fuschias, lilacs, and azaleas.

AMVETS STATE COMMANDER TO VISIT MONTEREY

Lionel E. Hudson, Commander, Amvets, Department of California, will visit Monterey on April 14 to preside at the inauguration of the new Monterey Peninsula Post, number 52, and to install the officers of the post. The ceremonies will occur at 7:30 p.m. at the lounge of the Naval Postgraduate School.
